

EUREGIO Program for Integrity and Best Practices in Management Research

Research Integrity in the Age of AI

This workshop is designed to explore and discuss peer-review processes and research integrity in the age of AI, featuring hands-on research applications and insights from experts. Building on interactive discussions and practical activities, this workshop will look at research integrity challenges in the current academic publishing landscape, especially as they relate to the emergence of AI technologies. This workshop is part of a series of three, collaboratively organized by the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, the University of Trento, and the University of Innsbruck, and supported by EUREGIO. Participants are encouraged to attend all sessions for a comprehensive learning experience.
